FOREWORD

THE Class of '49 presents this edition of "The Senior Leaves" as a memo of the many happy days spent in our school. May you receive as much enjoyment from reading our annual as we had producing it.

DEDICATION

WE, the Class of '49 dedicate our yearbook to our parents who have stood by us faithfully, and who have guided and encouraged us in the many trials and problems of our school life.

Class of 1949,

"Wars begin in the minds of men" and hence, "it is in the minds of men that the defenses of peace must be constructed" states the opening of the preamble to U. N. E. S. C. O. The minds of each of you, Seniors, has been influenced by your studies and activities in Frewsburg Central School. Let us hope that the habits of right living and sound thinking we have endeavored to give you, have become so much a part of you, that your duty as a citizen of these United States and you as a personality in society, will work for the construction of the defenses of peace.

"For war doesn't really begin in the minds of men generally, or in the minds of very many men but begins in the minds of only a very few; and then it is not important, unless these very few minds in which war has already begun, have unusual and very powerful influences over the minds of the many" to quote Dean William F. Russell of Columbia University. If this be true, may you ever guard and cherish the freedoms, privileges and responsibilities of our democratic form of government. Remember your civic responsibilities; be informed; serve your community. Never let indifference interfere with progress toward better things here in Frewsburg, or wherever you may be. Do your part willingly.

Sincerely,

Leland C. Sanborn

Dear Seniors:

We are living in a dynamic world - a world fraught with a danger which we as rational, intelligent people cannot ignore.

Much has been said about the peril of the Atomic Bomb; but is it the Atomic Bomb or the human factor which makes us so dangerous unto ourselves.

One person joined with millions form a nation and nations form the -world. This is a significant observation, for then, we can properly focus our attention on the real crux of the problem - the individual.

With this resolved, it is important that we cultivate an awareness of the dignity of man and make possible its growth in our cherished concepts of freedom.

This freedom should be defined unequivocally as an opportunity to realistically and constructively help one another for the benefit of all. It must be made clear that this freedom is not a device to make possible the enslavement of civilization under a cloak of race superiority or class warfare espoused by dangerous Stalinism.

Our hope will come through the educated man - strong in spirit - kind of heart - a believer in God.

Sincerely,
Samuel N. Tota

SENIORS

HISTORY

THE wheels creaked, the axle groaned, and at last we were on our way in search of gold. Our journey started in September, 1945 under the guidance of Mr. Murray. The officers of our covered wagon train were as follows: Margaret Hanson-President, Charles Hildum-Vice-President, Janice Blasdell-Secretary, Joanne Ryberg-Treasurer, and Joyce Thierfeldt and Bill Phillips-Student Council Representatives. Our caravan traveled rather slowly this year--cautiously testing the mountains and valleys that make up high school life. During this lap of the journey, Byron joined our group.

On to the Sophomore year. We were used to our pioneer life by this time, and felt that our lofty position as sophomores was really worth while. Mr. Rounds was the driver of our wagon train and we elected the following officers for leadership: Charles Hildum-President, Clemence White-Vice-President, Margaret Hanson-Secretary, May Wilkins-Treasurer, and Evelyn Sjogren and Donald Mara-Student Council Representatives. Our accomplishment for that year was the sponsoring of a Spring Dance on May 9, 1946.

Ah, at last our goal is in sight! As juniors, we became decidedly more aggressive, due to the strong competition given us by the seniors. We organized a strong fortress with Miss Tatu as our advisor, Nancy Cass-President, Daniel Traver-Vice-President, Janice Blasdell-Secretary, Joyce Thierfeldt-Treasurer, and Bill Phillips and Margaret Hanson-Student Council Representatives. In October it was announced that we had thoroughly skunked the seniors in the annual magazine contest. Throughout the year we sold candy and pencils. When our class rings arrived in May, 1948, we had proof that our rings -- the best ever obtained in F. H. S., represented the best class our school had ever known. Our play "A Case of Springtime," was presented on May 23 and 24, and was a smashing success. In June, we sponsored the Moving-up Day Dance, and treated the seniors to a boat ride.

Well, here we are. Seniors at last! Our covered wagon has aged quite a bit since its joyous departure in 1945. Some members of the caravan have dropped out along the way, but most of us are still here, on the last lap of our journey for Gold. We, the forty-niners, under the guidance of Mr. Tota, elected Clemence White as President, Margaret Hanson-Vice-President, Janice Blasdell-Secretary, Daniel Traver-Treasurer, and Gladys Phillips, and Byron Brady-Student Council Representatives.

The year is drawing to a swift close. Thus far, we have sponsored the Autumn Dance, Oct. 8, given our very successful play "Gallopig Ghosts" on Nov. 5 and 6, taken pictures for the yearbook, and helped to sponsor the Christmas Dance. There is so much more to be done, but it will all work up to that exciting time of Commencement with the resulting flurry of announcements and parties. It is only after we have graduated that we will have truly found our gold -- the gold of knowledge, understanding, and faith in the future. It is then that we, the forty-niners must disband, each to find in his own way his own treasure of happiness.

CLASS WILL

WE, the Class of '49, being of sound mind and body, do ordain and establish this our last Will and Testament. We leave the following articles to our friends and admirers:

- Dan Traver his lemon rinse to Barbara Johnson so she can keep her hair blond for Gordon.
- Ted Jackson his inertness to Edna Kline so she can take her time once in awhile.
- Jeanette Waid a map of the roads between Frewsburg and Jamestown to Dorothy Nelson so she won't get lost.
- Elaine Warn her worries to Barbara Payne so she has something to keep her bookkeeping worries company.
- Clemence White . . his practical jokes to Norman Morgan so he can carry on in Clem's place.
- Joanne Ryberg . . . to Nanci Crist she leaves her angel's wings so she can fly down to Texas.
- Autumn Suckow . . . her knowledge of parking places to Dorothy Schoonover.
- May Wilkins four easy lessons on "How to Get a Diamond" to Dolores Olson.
- Nancy Cass Her brother to Florence Gustafson in hopes that she can get along with him better than Nancy does.
- Marion Anderson . . his Xmas paper dolls to Bob Stone.
- Charles Hildum . . his pamphlet on "How to Stay Away from Women" to David Wilcox.
- Joyce Martin a bottle of ammonia to Janet Swanson so she can clean her engagement ring.
- Jacqueline Hansen . her letters from Michigan to Barbara Sheldon so she will have something to do on her long winter evenings.

Joyce Thierfeldt . . . her clarinet to Claybourne Sager so he won't have so much trouble on the high notes.

Bette Jones her gum chewing ability to Marilyn Bemis.

Gordon Barton his temper to Barbara Larson so she can "Fly off the handle" once in a while.

Byron Brady his shortness to Bill Greene so he won't feel so tall.

Evelyn Sjogren . . . her artistic ability to Roger Haglund.

Margaret Hanson . . a bottle of red hair dye to Reggie White so he can carry on the tradition.

Janice Blasdell . . . her place on the honor roll to Allen to keep it in the family.

Gladys Phillips her weekly trips to Russell and her pair of skates to Bill Waite.

Mildred Wigren . . . her noon hour duties to Dorothy Philbrick.

Howard Parsons . . his happy-go-lucky manner to John Brotherton.

The Class of '49 leaves:

All the arguments we could have had to Mr. Tota

To Mr. Adams, comfortable chairs in the lab. so the future science classes can concentrate on class work instead of the agonies of the old chairs.

Our mistakes to the Class of '50 so they can profit by them.

PROPHECY

HAVING moved westward and settled, we see our classmates performing their daily duties.

Marion is running his ranch by remote control.

Byron has quit Marion's group of hired hands and is running a ranch in competition.

Bette and Jackie are the new make-up artists for RKO motion pictures.

Having used their past experience to good advantage, Nancy and Joanne are now frequently seen standing on the corner of Hollywood and Vine.

May is still spending her hard-earned money for bus tickets to Buffalo, only now she has farther to go.

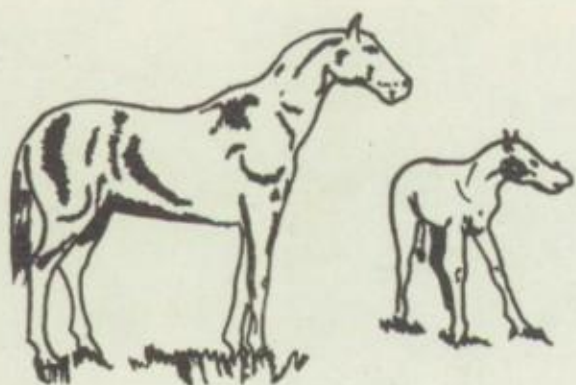

Ted is now a first-class F. B. I. agent in Death Valley.

Gladys has become a switchboard operator and keeps calling all the members of the class of '49.

Dan has seated himself comfortably behind his desk and is relaxed in his khakis.

We hear that Pete is now playing the drums in a classy orchestra and is a magician on the side.

Janice has hired herself out as a private nurse to all the spoiled movie star brats.

Joyce M. and Bill are burning up the telephone lines from East Aurora to keep the rest of us in touch with their married life.

Gordon is still a bachelor, but is keeping as many girls on the string.

Evelyn is an opera singer on the California branch of the Metropolitan.

Joyce T. can be seen making her rounds in the wilds of Oregon, visiting everyone on the parish charge.

Elaine is making beautiful false teeth for each member of the class as we grow older.

Autumn and Harold are raising horses on their horse ranch.

On the next ranch, Margaret and Clemence are living in blissful happiness, raising little White red-heads.

Mildred is now chief spy for Louella Parsons.

Howard has now become an expert in his field -- stage managing for Columbia Motion Pictures.

Last, but not least, Bob Hope is now writing jokes for Donny's new radio program.

DURING our junior year, our class presented "A Case of Springtime." When Bob tried the "sawing a woman in half" magic trick on the principal's daughter, it didn't work. There was no murder committed, but Bob is already in plenty of trouble. To add to his troubles, he had borrowed a formal coat from his girl friend, Joan (and of course she got it from her father, the principal). It is accidentally torn and Bob thrusts it into the laundry bag, the contents of which are to be dyed. By the time Bob finds the real fate of that laundry bag, it is too late, and the outraged principal has discovered everything! --- "The dye is cast!" Seriously worried, mother decides to entertain the P. T. A. ladies in hope that they may intercede for her son. Just before their arrival, Bob's kid brother set up a series of homemade booby traps. The P. T. A. ladies walk right into them, and they know it is all Bob's fault. They want to denounce him and send authorities after him, but that isn't necessary. Through a misunderstanding, the authorities are already out to get him. Bob thinks he is living under a curse, but changes his mind when all his misunderstandings are cleared up.

MISS Barton is too proud to accept assistance from her wealthy nephews, so Dick decides to fool her into taking the money she needs. He plans to hide a sum of money in the house, have it accidentally discovered, and then claim that it must be the hidden money Grandfather was supposed to have left her. He hires a waitress to dress up as an exotic clairvoyant, and puts on a seance act as a means of discovering the planted money. But the fake clairvoyant is in cahoots with a crook, and plans to outwit Dick by stealing the money herself. Patricia and Phil, Dick's frivolous teen-age sister and brother concoct a weird apparition, and then proceed to crop up with it at the most unexpected moments to scare the daylights out of people. The kids also discover the clairvoyant's plot, and she soon finds herself being chased by a ghost instead of raising one. Dick plants the money, but the kids substitute rocks for it, and the clairvoyant and her partner get rocks instead of money. Then another ghost enters upon the scene, and the real money also disappears. Soon, various people are disguising themselves as ghosts, in an effort to find the money. Finally, a few new twists bring home the money, and then some.

SPORT SPOTS IN '49

FREWSBURG Central's basketeeering Eagles were off to a fast, furious start, whipping Ripley in a first league encounter 49 to 27. Repeating again against Chautauqua 33 to 24, we took our first two games of the season. Our first defeat at Clymer was handed to us by a close count of 31 to 36. Again on the golden victory trail we downed Panama on our home court 35 to 27 in a hotly contested game from start to finish. When we invaded league leading Mayville we took a decisive loss of 28 to 40. At Sherman the golden touch came back and our boys won a close victory of 43 to 42.

The Bemus Point and Ripley games were both important and both losses.

When Chautauqua invaded our court we subdued them with a 30 to 19 count. Clymer entered our local court and again took a victory of 41 to 20.

These are the high spots in the 1948-1949 basketball sports season. Coach Scofield has done admirable work whipping this years team into shape. We acknowledge our Coach's leadership and wish to thank him for his patience and work with our boys.

THE Tri-Hi-Y is an organization of girls whose aim is to "create, maintain, and extend throughout the school and community high standards of Christian character."

This year, for the last time, we initiated the new members of the Tri-Hi-Y. For two days they submitted to the slow torture of grease paint and uncomfortable clothing.

One of our projects this year has been the sponsoring of a movie during the noon hour. We hope that we continue to be of service to our members and the school as a whole.

WHAT goes on once a month on Monday nights down in the Ag room? It seems to be a deep, dark secret to some of us.

In September at the Chautauqua County Fair, our F. F. A. took third prize for their booth showing different cuts of meat. Some of the members also took prizes for livestock and poultry.

After about four months of probation, nine new members went through the agonies of being initiated.

During the rest of the year, the F. F. A. plans to sell seeds and raise chickens as a project for the Lion's Club.
